Councilman C. R. Howe wanted the censure to extend to Detective Sheeta and Dr. King. He made a speech in support of his contention. But he did not get much aid in his efforts, for when a vote was taken only two more were in favor of his proposition, Canning and Reid.

Whittemore Was Radical.

Whittemore was more radical still. He wanted the scalp of the chief of police. He wouldn't be content without it. He declared that the chief should be asked to resign, and that if Sheets and Dr. King were responsible they should be asked to resign also. On this theory he and C. R. Howe went so far that they refused to vote for a censure. They voted "no" when the question came up on a roll call.

The report of the committee is quite lengthy, for it reviews the case at length. However, the most strking part of it is Chief Hilton's letter of apology which accompanies it. Some members of the council characterized. members of the council characterized it as a "most abject" apology. Others had an idea that it was manly. He thought that the committee was trying to shield some official, and he called on the members of it to bring out the names of everybody who should be blamed. There was the stillness as of death like unto that which prevails at a morgue when Chairman Cottrell got up to reply. He declared with some feeling that the committee was not trying to hold back anything, and Howe accepted his statement.

Probably the most eloquent speech was made by Whittemore of the Second precinct. He said that he could not accept the amendment of C. R. Howe, nor could he accept the report.

For, though I respect you, the public wants a far different action. The public wants Chief Hilton to resign. I want his resignation. Do you think that Chief Devine of the fire department would have written such a letter of apology as this one?"

There was further discussion between Howe, Cottrell and Fernstrom. Report of Committee.

The report follows:

Salt Lake City, Utah, May 15, 1900.
To the Honorabie President and City Council, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Gentlemen: Your committee on police and prison having had its attention called to the charges publicly made, that three small girls, under the direction of the police department, had been subjected to a physical examination by the city physician, to determine whether they were diseased or not, thought proper to examine into the matter, and report 12, amine into the matter, and report 12, amine into the matter, and report 12, indings and conclusions.

Your committee met Thursday evening, May 16, at 8 p. m., in the office of the chief of police, all members of the committee being present except Mr. Fernstrom, who did not receive his notice in time.

Two of the girls Clara Carnay and the could see no good reason why the effer of Wells, Fargo & Co. should not be accepted, since, in his opinion, it was more to the advantage of the city than the rival proposal.

In soite of this bit of elucidation Councilman Whittemore's amendment was carried. Hartenstein and Fernstrom voting with him, while Robert son and Buckle stood in the negative. It was provided, however, when the patronage, the National Bank of the patronage, the National Bank of the Republic must furnish the accommodation on the same terms as offered by Wells, Fargo & Co.

It was also set up by the department that the girls were of bad character, had been frequently arrested, had been seen a great many times in the company of bad men, and had been a source of annoyance to their immediate neighbors.

Upon the question of acquiescence in the physical examination upon the part of the girls, we cannot agree with the claim of the police department. The statement made to the girls that they were diseased and must be examined to satisfy the police upon that point, was coercion, and the impression given that they must submit to an examination or

Year committee cannot too strongly condomn this violation of law, and of the rights of individuals, and feel that the interests of the pubde demand that the conduct of the police department shall, and must be in keeping with the law. Police officers necessarily have disagree-able duties to perform, but they need not and must be in keeping with the law. Police officers necessarily have disagreeable duties to pertorm, but they need not add to it by stepping beyond legal bounds. Prisoners have right, as well as the police and the authority conferred by the law must be exercised with wisdom and discretion.

To your committee nothing more humiliating has occurred in connection with the police force than this deplorable affair. The only circumstance that brings relief is the acknowledgment on the part of the chief of his error, and his solemn promise to the committee that while he remains in office no such wrong shall be again permitted.

Your committee by a large majority favored suspension from office, but have been informed that such punishment is not permissible under the law.

The acknowledgment by the chief of his error in this matter, his promise that it shall not occur again, induces your committee, after careful consideration to recommend to the council the adoption of the following resolution:

"Resolved, That this council, the mayor concurring, does hereby publicly record its censure of the action of the chief of police in causing Clara Carney, Hattie Dahl and Pearl Kessler to be physically examined, and declare same to have been without warrant or right, and a violation of the law.

Chief Hilton's Apology. The apology of Chief of Police Hilton

The apology of Chief of Police Hilton follows:

Salt Lake City, Utah, May 15, 1900. To the Honorable Police and Prison Committee, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Gentlemen: The administration of police affairs in a city like Salt Lake presents many delicate problems, and they may not always be solved in the wisest manner. The action of this department in the matter of the physical examination of the three girls by the city physician, which is now being considered by your honorable body, was taken with the best motives and intentions, but without due consideration. Upon reflection, I am convinced that such action was improper and i desire to now publicly acknowledge the error and to assure you that so long as I remain at the head of the department the mistake shall not be repeated. In doing so I desire, in the most emphatic manner, as the responsible head of the police department, to take upon myself the entire responsibility for the action. Very respectfully yours, respectfully yours, THOS, H. HILTON, Chief of Police.

OVERDRAFT ACCOUNT WILL BE KEPT BY TWO BANKS.

Treasurer Morris' Vigilance Forced Banker Dooly to Come Down a Little.

Through the efforts of City Treasurer Morris the municipality this summer will secure its overdraft accommodations at the banks at a less rate of interest than was paid last year, when Wells, Fargo & Co. got 61/2 per cent interest, compounded monthly, for the lean of about $80,000. Last year's interest charge amounted to over $1,500, but this time the city will have to pay more in the aggregate, notwithstand-ing that the interest rate will be calculated at simply 6 per cent yearly for the time the $100,000 to $150,000 will be needed to tide the city over till taxes come in late in the fall.

It was agreed that the city council committee on finance should meet with Treasurer Morris last evening at 7 o'clock to consider the sealed bids from the National Bank of the Republic and Wells, Fargo & Co., but Chairman Robertson, paying teller in Mr. Dooly's bank, decreed that the city treasurer's presence would be a hindrance to the onsideration of the matter, and adroitly fixed things so that the committee's session would not be till after the adjournment of the council meeting. Of course, when the committee got together Treasurer Morris was not at hand, but he already had done all that could be done by awakening competi-tion to Banker Dooly's first proposal for an overdraft at 61/2 per cent interest, compounded. The second bid of Wells, Fargo & Co., which was opened and considered along with the amended proposal of the National Bank of the Republic, offered to let the city treasurer overdraw. up to $150,000, simple interest to be charged at the rate of 6 per cent annually for the six months the accommodation will be used.

The National Bank of the Republic offered in its scaled bid to carry the city's account for 6 per cent interest. Councilman Buckle, side partner of Chairman Robertson, moved that the proposal of Mr. Dooly's bank be accepted, and Councilman Whittemore amended by proposing that the overdraft account be divided equally between both banks.

Chairman Robertson directed attention to the fact that "simple interest" and "interest" are two very different things in figuring overdrafts. He could see no good reason why the effer
